FERPA

Wofford College complies with the amended Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (commonly referred to as the "Buckley Amendment or 'FERPA'"). FERPA is designed to protect the confidentiality of records that educational institutions maintain on their students and to give students the right to access those records to assure the accuracy of their contents. Generally, FERPA requires that written consent from the student be received before personally identifiable information about the student is released. Institutions may release, without written consent, those items specified as public or directory information. Wofford's annual FERPA notice can be found both in this Catalog and on the Registrar's website (<https://www.wofford.edu/academics/registrar/policies-compliances/ferpa/>).

The following is a brief summary of each student's rights under the Family Education Rights & Privacy Act (FERPA).

1. The right to inspect and review your education record within 45 days of the day the College receives a request for access.
2. The right to request an amendment of your education record if you believe it is inaccurate or misleading.
3. The right to consent to the disclosure of personally identifiable information contained in your education record, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent.
4. The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by the College to comply with the requirements of FERPA.

The name and address of the office that administers FERPA is:
