

Chinese (CHIN)

Chinese is part of the Department of Modern Languages, Literatures, and Cultures. Chinese offers both a major and minor. Both the major and minor offers an interdisciplinary approach that provides students the opportunity to take courses from a diverse set of departments.

Special Considerations

Students who directly enroll in and complete a 300- level Chinese language course with a grade of 'C' or higher may be awarded credit for CHIN 201 and 202 courses provided they have not previously earned any lower division credit in that particular language.

Students who earned/received credit for a higher-level Chinese language course may not take or repeat a course at a lower level and receive credit for that course.

Coordinator

Yongfang Zhang

Students majoring in Chinese are required to complete a semester of study abroad in a country where the Chinese language is spoken, taking a majority of hours in Chinese, in a program approved by the Chinese Language Coordinator. In rare instances an exception to the semester of study abroad requirement may be granted. Exceptions to the policy are at the discretion of the Chinese faculty. For questions regarding the study abroad requirement and the waiver process, contact the Coordinator of the Chinese program.

Total Hours 19

¹ Or other course, as approved by the Coordinator of the Chinese Program, where the principal focus is Chinese or East Asian culture, history, religion, politics, philosophy, art history, etc.

CHIN 101. Beginning Active Chinese. 4 Hours.

Students will develop good pronunciation in speaking Mandarin Chinese (putonghua or guoyu) to exchange information in simple but accurate Chinese on some basic topics (greetings, personal introductions, personal daily activities), to have a good command of some basic radicals as well as some commonly used Chinese characters.

CHIN 102. Beginning Active Chinese. 4 Hours.

Students will continue to develop good pronunciation in speaking Mandarin Chinese (putonghua or guoyu). This includes the exchange information in simple but accurate Chinese (greetings, personal introductions, personal daily activities), to have a good command of some basic radicals as well as commonly used Chinese characters.

Prerequisite: CHIN 101 with a minimum grade of D.

CHIN 201. Low Intermediate Chinese. 4 Hours.

The intermediate level Chinese courses are to enhance command of the basic structures and vocabulary, to increase ability to communicate in Chinese both in speaking and writing, and to further develop interest in the Chinese language and culture.

Prerequisite: CHIN 102 with a minimum grade of C-.

CHIN 202. Low Intermediate Chinese. 4 Hours.

The intermediate level Chinese courses are to enhance command of the basic structures and vocabulary, to increase ability to communicate in Chinese both in speaking and writing, and to further develop interest in the Chinese language and culture.

Prerequisite: CHIN 201 with a minimum grade of C-.

CHIN 241. Language & Culture I. 1 Hour.

Students may use appropriate programming available via the Wofford Cable Network as a language and culture classroom, electing the amount of viewing time they wish to undertake in a given semester: three viewing hours per week. Students meet with a faculty member for a weekly individual consultation, at which time they deliver a written summary of their viewing experiences. The courses may be repeated up to a maximum of four semester hours.

Prerequisite: CHIN 102 with a minimum grade of C-.

CHIN 250. Travel Seminar: China. 3 Hours.

An up-close examination of Chinese culture through travel to selected regions in China. Topics will vary by location and by theme, but may include architecture, arts, city planning and development, geography, history, religion, social practices, and technology advancement. Students will study the most up-to-date information about the selected regions before they visit them. Upon return, students will present what they have learned, and reflect on the similarities and differences between Chinese culture and their own culture.

CHIN 280. Selected Topics in Chinese. 1 to 4 Hours.

The study of selected topics at the introductory or intermediate level in Chinese culture. Conducted in English; open to all students.

CHIN 301. High Intermediate Chinese. 3 Hours.

High Intermediate Chinese encourages students to increase their sophistication in reading and writing in Chinese in more formal styles. The course is conducted primarily in Chinese. Study materials include texts, web sources, and Chinese language television.

Prerequisite: CHIN 202 with a minimum grade of C-.

CHIN 302. Low Advanced Chinese. 3 Hours.

Low Advanced Chinese encourages students to continue to increase their sophistication in reading and writing in Chinese in more formal styles. The course is conducted primarily in Chinese. Study materials include texts, web sources, and Chinese language television.

Prerequisite: CHIN 301 with a minimum grade of C.

CHIN 304. Chinese Culture Through Film. 3 Hours.

Through careful study of cinematic text as mirror, students will learn to identify, understand, and analyze historical, social, political, and economic issues that have shaped China from its imperial period and into the 21st century. Topics include the family and tradition, the individual and society, past and present, man and nature, the change of cultural and social values, and woman's evolving role in society. All films have English subtitles.

CHIN 306. Intercultural Communication Between East and West. 3 Hours.

This course intends to help students understand the basic concepts and ideologies of the three major religions and philosophies in South East Asia, particularly in China, i.e. Confucianism, Daoism and Chinese Buddhism. Students will explore the close ties between these religions and philosophies as reflected in language and communication styles, and begin to understand different concepts of the 'self' (independent and relational) and 'face' in collectivism and individualism. Students will learn to anticipate, analyze and explain some of the causes of misunderstanding or miscommunication among the peoples from the West and East.

CHIN 307. Modern China. 3 Hours.

This course is intended to help students understand China's evolution from its imperial past into a modern present by examining the impact of the Opium War and other popular revolts of the late 19th and early 20th centuries, the social and cultural conflicts between western civilization and traditional Confucianism after 1911, and the rise of diverse political movements after the creation of the People's Republic of China in 1949.

CHIN 308. Chinese Literature in English Translation. 3 Hours.

This course explores masterpieces of Chinese literature in English translation across various genres, including poetry, prose, drama, and fiction. The course focuses on examining literary styles and devices, discussing Eastern values reflected in the works, and enhancing skills in textual interpretation and analysis. The course will be taught in English.

CHIN 401. Advanced Chinese I. 3 Hours.

In this course, students will increase their sophistication in reading and writing in Chinese in more formal styles. The course will be conducted primarily in Chinese. Study materials include texts, web sources, and television. Students will learn basic techniques of written translation.

Prerequisite: CHIN 302 with a minimum grade of C.

CHIN 402. Advanced Chinese II. 3 Hours.

In this course, students will increase their sophistication in reading and writing in Chinese in more formal styles. The course will be conducted primarily in Chinese. Study materials include texts, web sources, and television. Students will learn basic techniques of written translation.

Prerequisite: CHIN 401 with a minimum grade of C.

CHIN 442. Oral Proficiency: Conversing and Interpreting in Chinese. 3 Hours.

A practical approach to speaking Chinese. Using a wide variety of spoken samples for listening practice and role-play tasks for speaking practice, the course examines the functions and contexts of oral proficiency levels from intermediate to superior abilities. The course also considers techniques of oral assessment and the nature of professional interpreting as a career. Conducted in Chinese.

Prerequisite: CHIN 302 with a minimum grade of C.

CHIN 470. Independent Study. 1 to 4 Hours.

A course in which the student pursues independently, under the guidance of a member of the department, a specific topic of interest. Permission of instructor required.

CHIN 480. Advanced Topics in Chinese. 1 to 4 Hours.

The study of selected topics at the advance level in Chinese culture. Conducted primarily in Chinese.
